

Printing From Your Laptop

Please do not plug in your laptop to one of the library workstation printers.

Connect your laptop to the "laptop printer" on the reference desk. If you are using a Mac, your laptop should recognize the printer. With a PC, you may have to load printer driver files for that printer to work. Ask for the files at the reference desk.

OR:

- Save the file to some portable media, for example: a USB connected jumpdrive, a CD-R/RW, floppy disk, etc. Take the media type to a library workstation, load it, and print it out.
- Save the file you want to print to your laptop somewhere (desktop, My Documents) and then send it as an email attachment. You can then open your email and download the file from a library workstation.
