They have left us here to die

*When our country called for men
We came from forge store and mill
From workshops, farms, and factories
The broken ranks to fill*

*We left our quiet happy homes
And those we loved so dear
To vanquish all our union foes
Or fall where others fell*

*Now in prison drear we languish
And it is our constant cry
Oh ye who yet can save us
Will you leave us here to die*
